Journal of Undergraduate Research & Scholarly Work
ABOUT JURSW

The University of Texas at San Antonio Journal of Undergraduate Research and Scholarly Works (JURSW) is a peer-reviewed, indexed academic journal published by the Office of the Vice President for Research. JURSW accepts submissions from undergraduates in all fields from any degree-granting institution, and publishes a variety of scholarly work: research abstracts, poster presentations, summary reports, research manuscripts, and other presentation formats. JURSW is published biannually, at the end of each semester.

SUBMISSIONS

Guidelines

Submissions must be the work of an undergraduate scholar; submissions from recent graduates are allowable if the work was completed as an undergraduate. All submissions must be accompanied by a faculty mentor agreement form, and electronic submissions through the journal’s site are encouraged. http://research.utsa.edu/UG_Journal/submit.html.

Ownership of the work remains with the Author for future presentation or publication.

Submission Deadlines

Submission deadline for Fall is December 22; Spring deadline is May 15.

Review Process

Complete submissions are first reviewed by the editor-in-chief, then appropriate submissions are sent to area editors. Area editors review the submission, then make recommendations for publication to the editor-in-chief. Accepted submissions then route to The Writing Program for editing review. All revisions must be made by the author within two weeks of a decision.
